

On Nov 8th 2016 I took care of Josephine Oliverio. I didn't go at my schedule time at 10:00 am because I spoke with her and had to take my daughter to a appt and she was aware of that but I did make up time but later that night she agreed to. She also offered me a chair that she was giving away. So on that same night my husband and daughter came in a different car and pick it up as soon as he put it in the car my daughter went into the car with him and waited for me to finish her sponge bath. yes he did come inside and he introduce himself and brought the chair to his vehicle. and when I washed Josephine and did not wear the gloves she had because they irritated my skin but my hands did not touch her open sores and I had a rag around my hand to clean her.

Thank you
